

Ellowyn & Wilde

WINTER 2008

*Shopping and friends...
my only escape from ennui... *sigh

Ellowyn & Wilde

Notes from the Couch

My therapist, Dr. Bantam, says I suffer from chronic ennui, with just a touch of melancholy – but I guess I'm just too tired to figure it all out. I'm supposed to write down my thoughts and feelings – but really, it's not that I'm not happy, or even sad - just mostly bored.

I should tell you about my cat, Sybil. I'm not really sure if she has nine lives, but she definitely has nine personalities.

Unfortunately my favorite personality is when she's sleeping. You can read more about Sybil on page 20, if you want.

I guess that's all I have to say for now. I do have an appointment with Dr. Bantam later today, but I just don't think I'll have the energy to go...maybe tomorrow. (sigh)...

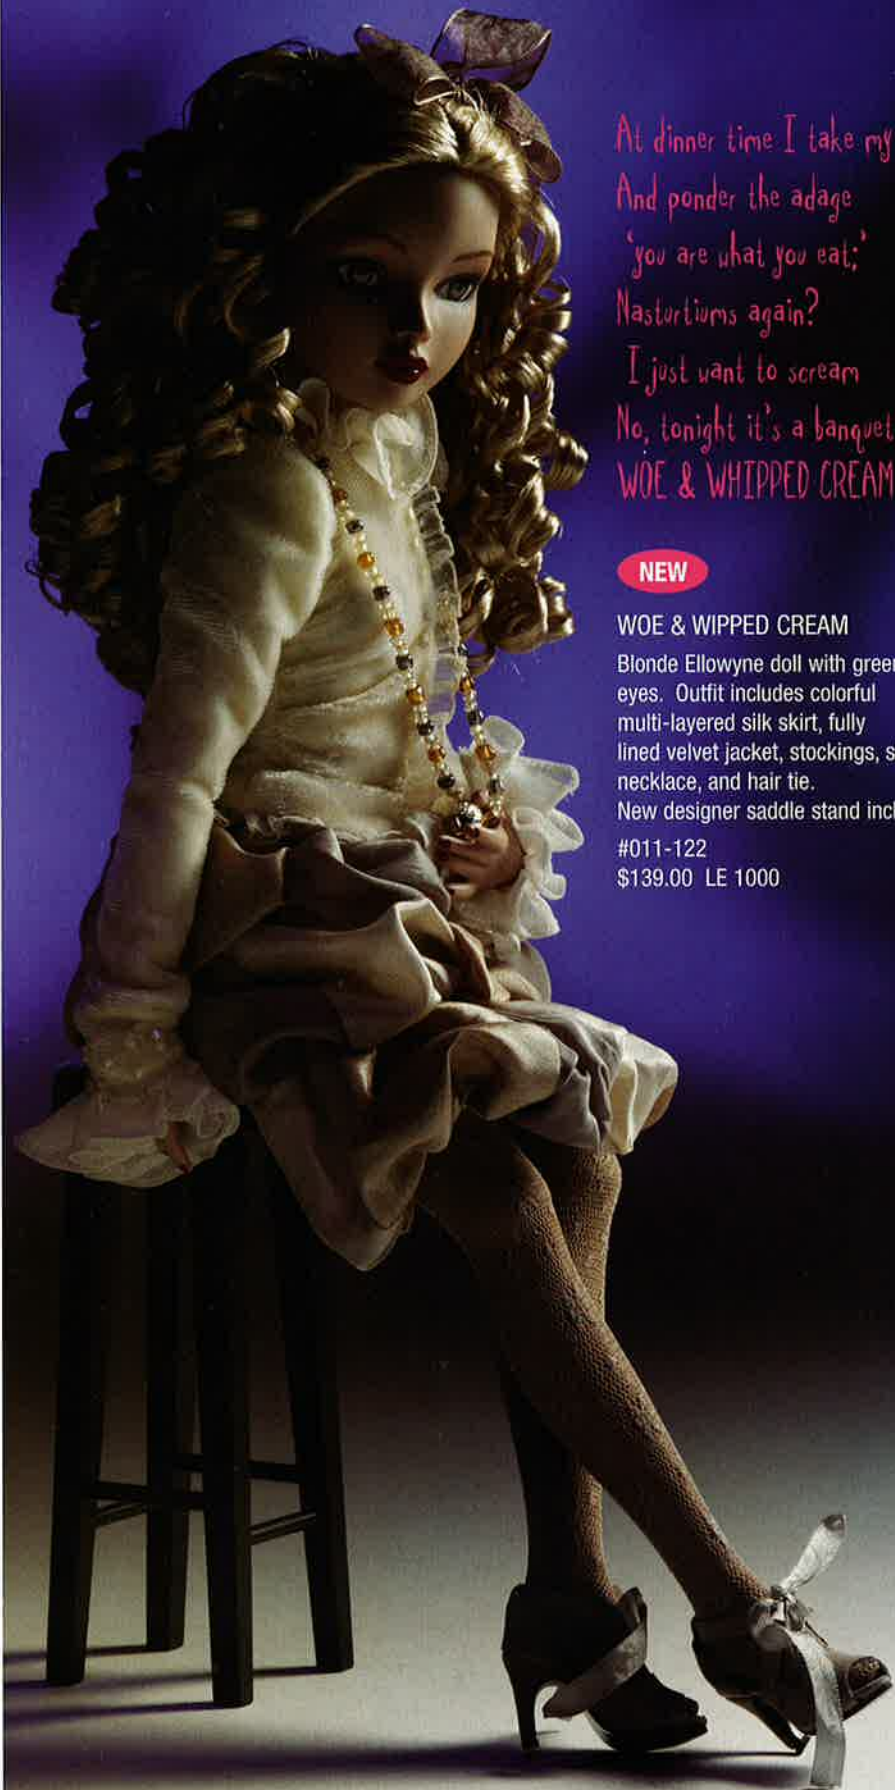

Love, Ellowyn

EVANGELIN GHASTLY-CEMETERY WEDDING

Evangeline is made of pale luminescent resin and is dressed in an ivory silk burnout gown with a beaded lace bodice with shirred puffs of burnout over a trumpet skirt with train, and complete with dead flowers on the bustle. Her veil is tulle with a ring of matching dead flowers. Her shoes are satin and her hair is platinum, with eyes slightly pink from crying. She also wears an antique cross around her neck, which she found in a drawer in the attic wrapped inside an old pair of pantaloons. She's not sure who it belonged to, but the pantaloons were big enough to fit a family of five. She now wonders if she comes from a family of very large people. She's ready for the ceremony - but where is the groom?
