

Ellowyn & Wilde

Spring 2013

*Not now...
I'm in a mood*

Ellowynne & Wilde

Scanty clothes and cheerful grin; Are not the style of Ellowynne

Notes from the couch

My therapist, Dr. Bantam, says I suffer from chronic ennui, with just a touch of melancholy – but I guess I'm just too tired to figure it all out. I'm supposed to write down my thoughts and feelings – but really, it's not that I'm not happy, or even sad – just kind of bored.

Dr. Bantam thinks I should get out more with my friends, and she may have a point. Pru always makes me smile, and I love hearing Lizette tell stories about New Orleans. Amber – well, not so much, but I guess I'll trust Dr. B on this one. We all went shopping recently and actually had a good time. San Francisco is filled with the most amazing thrift shops – I hope you like our new looks.

I guess that's all I have to say for now. Maybe I'll just go write in my journal, or go shopping, or...oh, I just don't know (sigh).

Love, Ellowynne

Born: April 24, 1924

Place of Birth: Ipswich, England
(to the attic of Barkley Manor)

The weather on the night of Evangeline's birth was as expected. The wind was howling, the moon was full, and the doctor was unavailable.

And so begins the story of Evangeline Ghastly. Where most call her unfortunate; she thinks of herself as misunderstood. Beginning with a mysterious diary entry, a pet skunk named Mouette, and fashions straight out of a Victorian novel, Evangeline is definitely... a whole other story!

Created by designer Joe Petrollese and sculpted by renowned fashion doll artist Robert Tonner, Evangeline stands 18-1/2" tall and is crafted of the finest vinyl and hard plastic, with inset eyes, applied lashes, and 15 points of articulation for unlimited posing possibilities. She comes complete with hand-painted features and a designer wardrobe befitting any mortician's assistant.

Evangeline comes to you straight from the attic of Barkley Manor, across from the local cemetery, prepared to share her quirky tales, unique fashion sense, and her mysterious cousin from Paris - Parnilla Ghastly.
